

The graph illustrates the relationship between public and private goods. The vertical axis represents the public good ('공') and the horizontal axis represents the private good ('私'). A budget line is drawn, and the area under it, above the indifference curves, is shaded blue, representing the feasible region for the allocation of goods.

